KINGSTONE Real Estate strengthens asset management team

Munich, 11.08.2022 – The real estate investment manager, KINGSTONE Real Estate, has hired Melanie Drexler as Director of Asset Management and Sabrina Klamminger as Senior Asset Manager. Both will report directly to Paul H. Muno, Managing Director of KINGSTONE Real Estate.

Melanie Drexler joins from Invesco Real Estate: As Senior Associate Asset Management her responsibilities included properties in various asset classes in pan-European open-ended real estate funds. In addition, she gained extensive professional experience in asset management at Catella Real Estate, as well as in the fields of lease management (commercial real estate) and real estate development. Besides a real estate-focused bachelor's degree in business administration, she also holds a master's degree from IREBS International Real Estate Business School in Regensburg.

Sabrina Klamminger previously served as an Asset Manager in Real Estate Commercial at OFFICEFIRST Real Estate. There she was responsible, among other things, for proactive asset management, including lease management, and integrated property management in the sales process. Prior to this, she spent several years in charge of various institutional fund vehicles at Corpus Sireo Real Estate Management GmbH (today: Swiss Life Asset Managers), as well as the Southern Germany portfolio of the Canadian REIT from Dream Global. Sabrina Klamminger is a certified real estate manager and also holds a degree as a "Bachelor Professional of Real Estate Management and Operations (CCI)".

Paul H. Muno, Managing Director of KINGSTONE Real Estate, says: "With Melanie Drexler and Sabrina Klamminger, we have gained two supremely qualified colleagues. I am delighted that we are bolstering our growth course with these additions to our team. Their experience in the integrated management of institutional real estate investment vehicles will assist us greatly in maintaining and further improving the quality of our asset management."
